

FEAR SCHOONER, CREW OF 24, LOST

INSPIRED CARDS IN LEAD IN THRILLING FIGHT FOR PENNANT

Hoping For Victory In Final Battle With Robins

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Playing with the glint of world series gold in their eyes, the inspired St. Louis Cardinals, inspired by Manager Gabby Street, "miracle man" of the 1930 season, will undertake to polish off the Brooklyn Robins in the third and final game of their crucial series at Ebbets Field this afternoon and "sew up the pennant." A victory today, the Cards figure, would just about turn the trick.

St. Louis, by virtue of the two stunning defeats they dealt the Robins, have suddenly become strong favorites to win the National League flag and oppose the Philadelphia Athletics in the world series opening on October 1. They are now a fraction more than a full game ahead of Brooklyn; a game and a half ahead of Chicago and five and a half games ahead of New York. And the race has only ten days to go.

Manager Street is making no predictions but it is evident he is highly pleased with the world in general. Even the dereliction of one of his star pitchers, Flint Rhem, who fell off the water wagon with a resounding bang, has not disturbed him unduly. The Rhem incident is closed "for the present."

The hero of the hour in the Cardinal camp is "Little Andy" Hoff, a Brooklyn castoff, whose pinch hitting in this series has just about wrecked the Brooklyn chances of winning the pennant.

On Tuesday he came out in the tenth inning and he doubled and scored the lone tally that beat Vance, 1 to 0. And yesterday, pinch hitting in the ninth with the score tied, Andy doubled against the right field wall, driving the two runs that downed Lue, 5 to 3.

"A great little guy," was Street's enthusiastic comment on Hoff, as he placidly masticated a piece of fine cut.

He preferred not to discuss the case of the erring Rhem. Although Rhem was scheduled to pitch in the present important series, Street probably will decide not to use him. Rhem showed up in uniform yesterday but didn't feel well enough to go through a very strenuous workout. He spent most of the time on the bench. His story to Street after he had been "A. W. O. L." for twenty-four hours was that two lowbrowed villains had inveigled him into a speakeasy and "forced" him to guzzle an unidentified brand of booze.

St. Louis is coming down the home stretch in the pennant race playing the best ball of any of the contenders. Brooklyn, after winning eleven straight, collided with the Cardinals and was sunk twice and now they are reeling dizzily. The Cubs have been faltering for almost three weeks and the Giants are about through. St. Louis meanwhile, is breezing along.

The standing of the three leaders today was as follows:

| Team | W. | L. | Pct. |
|-----------|----|----|----------|
| St. Louis | 44 | 60 | .523 |
| Brooklyn | 44 | 62 | .515 |
| Chicago | 33 | 62 | .512 1/2 |

In ten days the race will be over. After today's game St. Louis has nine contests to play—five with the Phillies at Philadelphia and four with the Pirates at St. Louis. Brooklyn, after today's game with the Cards, will have only seven games to play—two with the Pirates at Brooklyn, one with the Giants at Brooklyn, one with the Phillies in Philadelphia and three with the Braves at Brooklyn. The Cubs, after their encounter with the Giants today, have eight left—four with the Braves at Boston and four with the Reds at Chicago.

OHIO SCHOOL GIRL MISSING FROM HOME

LAKEWOOD, O., Sept. 18.—Search was conducted here today for Virginia Wood, 15-year-old schoolgirl formerly of South Bend, Ind., who disappeared yesterday after she had left home to attend classes at Horace Mann Junior High School.

The girl, who is the daughter of Lee Wood, Cleveland manager of the Westinghouse Electric Company, started to school yesterday morning with another girl whom she left a few blocks from home, saying she was "going up the street to meet a girl."

AMBASSADOR MORROW LEAVES MEXICO; IS HIGHLY PRAISED

MEXICO, CITY, Sept. 18.—Highly praised by President Ortiz Rubio and other government officials for his noteworthy labors in promoting relations between Mexico and the United States during his term as ambassador here, Dwight W. Morrow was on his way home today to be New Jersey's Republican senatorial candidate at the forthcoming elections.

BROTHER OF CAPONE ARRESTED BY POLICE AT CAPONE MANSION

KIDNAPED PITCHER

Declaring that he had been kidnaped by two armed men and forced to drink a large quantity of liquor, Flint Rhem, star St. Louis National League pitcher, has returned to his team, after an absence of twenty-four hours. Manager Gabby Street of the Cardinals, one of the pennant contending teams, said Rhem would continue to pitch for his club.

SAYS AGRICULTURE FACING HARD YEAR; LEGGE GIVES CAUSE

Overproduction, Depression, Drought Are Blamed

DETROIT, Sept. 18.—Because of overproduction in some lines of agriculture, the business depression and the drought, American agriculture is facing a hard year, Alexander H. Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, told the Mortgage Bankers Association of America today.

He said there was equally no doubt that these difficulties would be surmounted and that in the perspective of years the strain will appear a temporary one. He told the bankers they could rely upon the board not only to do everything possible to facilitate this recovery, but its best efforts toward raising the general level of agricultural prosperity as well.

Regarding the wheat situation Legge said:

"After a careful survey of the world position and outlook for wheat, and the policy to which this points, we have been unable to escape the conclusion that we have been overproducing wheat, and cannot expect to continue doing this without loss. Our carry over of wheat has increased in each year of the past five, and is a substantial part of an excessive world carry over that has contributed heavily to depress wheat prices last year and this.

"This year, as it happens, the shortage of corn, hay and pasture affords an exceptional opportunity to work off most of this accumulated surplus."

ARREST 300 DURING RIOTING IN BOMBAY

LONDON, Sept. 18.—More than 300 persons, most of them women, were arrested throughout Bombay today as a result of riots which threatened to disrupt council elections of the Indian congress, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Bombay declared.

"A total of 315 women and fourteen men were taken into custody. Skirmishes in the vicinity of polling booths took place from early morning until closing time.

Officials accompanied Morrow as far as the American border. The ambassador's car was attached to the regular night train which left here for Guadalajara at 7:30 o'clock last night. He intended to spend at least six hours in the latter city today sightseeing.

President Ortiz Rubio issued a statement after Morrow's departure highly praising him for his furtherance of Mexican-American understanding.

Raiding Party Fails To Find Gangster Leader

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Police today raided the home of "Scarface Al" Capone, king of Chicago gangsters, and arrested his 21-year-old brother, Matthew. They were seeking the gang czar and his brother Ralph, both on the list of twenty-six "public enemies," wanted on vagrancy warrants but were told that both Al and Ralph are out of town. Officers were lurking about the Capones' two-apartment building early today when a car drove up in front of the place. They surrounded the automobile with drawn weapons and yanked the driver off the seat. He proved to be young Matthew, who recently enrolled as a law student at Villanova College.

Young Capone was marched up to the front door of the house and his mother, Mrs. Theresa Capone, responded to his knock. The officers pushed their prisoner inside, following on his heels. A rapid search convinced the police that neither Al nor Ralph was present.

Acting Lieut. Frank Aldernovel, who led the raid, declared the homes of Al and Ralph were the most luxurious he had ever seen. The floors were covered with fine oriental rugs. The elaborately carved and inlaid furniture and paintings and statuary, he asserted, would rival that in the homes of Chicago's Gold Coast millionaires.

Officers of extra compensation as rewards spurred the police search. None has been taken in custody yet although the search has been in progress for thirty-six hours.

Detective squads, combing the city for racketeers, today had raided ten so-called union headquarters, all of which are officered and dominated by well-known gangsters, some of whom are cited in the batch of vagrancy warrants issued Tuesday by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle.

In each case the authorities seized all books and records of the organizations and confiscated all moveable property, including safes, strong boxes and locked desks. Some guns and ammunition were found.

INDIANA WILL GET SUSPECT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 18.—Having waived extradition, Ted Geisking, accused of the murder of Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, today was to be taken to Rising Sun, Ind., where he faces a number of charges.

Geisking, a member of Indiana's Trauma gang, refused to waive extradition to Illinois, asserting that he was afraid of being "framed" for the racketeering reporter's murder last June 9.

Two witnesses to the Chicago gang killing failed to identify the Indiana gangster yesterday as Lingle's slayer. Other witnesses, however, will view the suspect at Rising Sun later on, Chicago will have first claim on Geisking, it was said, providing that Illinois authorities find their case strong enough.

GASOLINE DROPS IN PRICE WAR

A two-cent reduction in the price of gasoline per gallon was placed into effect in Xenia and throughout Ohio excepting Montgomery and Miami Counties, by The Standard Oil Co., Thursday. As a result, motorists were paying nineteen cents a gallon for regular gas and twenty-two cents for high test at local filling stations Friday. Other local oil companies met the cut with a corresponding reduction, a survey revealed.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—While leading distributors refused to admit that a price war was taking place, reduction of two cents a gallon in the cost of low and high test gasolines was announced in Cleveland today.

The reduction in the price of high test gasoline to twenty-two cents and low test to nineteen cents, was explained by local producers as due to "over-production."

SENTENCED TO DIE

GIRL FLYER KILLED IN PLANE FALL

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 18.—Ruth Alexander, school girl aviatrix, was killed today a few minutes after she took off from Lindbergh Field on a transcontinental flight to New York.

With a heavy fog and flying weather bad Miss Alexander was believed to have been flying low and struck on Point Loma only three miles from her successful take-off.

Miss Alexander, Kansas farm girl who worked days in a restaurant and nights in a beauty parlor to earn money for flying lessons, set a woman's altitude record of 2,000 feet before she had won her pilot's license.

Recently she set a sixteen-hour record for a Vancouver, B. C., to Agua Caliente airplane hop.

HITLER ACCUSED OF PLOT TO OVERTHROW GERMAN REPUBLIC

Newspaper Declares Fassist Planning Huge
"Putsch"

BERLIN, Sept. 18.—Charges that Adolf Hitler, German Fascist leader whose party made unexpected large gains in the recent elections, is planning a "putsch" to overthrow the German republic were made today by the Democratic newspaper Berliner Zeitung Am Mittag.

Hitler, the newspaper charges, plans to transfer his headquarters to Berlin, intending to train "storm divisions" for street fighting when the time for the "putsch" is ripe. The newspaper declares the coup will be attempted this winter when unemployment is expected to be at its peak.

In connection with the article, it was recalled Hitler vigorously denied planning such an attempt in a recent speech. Together with General Erich Von Ludendorff, Hitler engineered a "putsch" some years ago. The anti-republican article lasted but one day, after which Hitler was arrested and his followers disbanded.

Hitler's headquarters described today's report as "not authentic."

In the conservative newspaper Neue Nachrichten, published in Leipzig, an article appeared today stating Germany was preparing a big offensive for this fall aimed at revision of the Young plan for reparations payments. The report was denied in official circles, where it was said the rumor was due to British efforts to revise war debts.

Assurance was given Germany will continue to fulfill the terms of the Young plan as long as possible.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT
NEWARK, O., Sept. 18.—John Nicodemus, 28, was reported in a critical condition here today suffering from a bullet wound which was accidentally inflicted by Wesley Bradley, while the two men were hunting. Bradley had mistaken an "Nicodemus" hat for a squirrel, it was said.

MINE EXPLOSION KILLS SIX; RECOVER BODIES

RIVER HEBERT, NOVA SCOTIA, Sept. 18.—Six miners were killed in a fire damp explosion 1200 feet below the surface in the old Victoria Mine. Their bodies were recovered today.

Other miners were badly burned and it is believed more miners may have been trapped and died. When the explosion occurred in the mine, which is owned by the Victoria Coal Company, the Niagara and falling stones imprisoned the victims. A rescue party from Springhill dug out the bodies of Philip and William Burke, Clarence McGraw, Simon Fowler, William White and Wilbert White.

CURFEW BELL PUTS PUTTERS TO BED

TIFFIN, O., Sept. 18.—Miniature golf and the three R's—reading, writing, and 'rithmetic' don't go together so well. At least that is what Charles J. Mutchler, chief of police here, thinks.

The chief, it seems, received so many complaints that Tom Thumb golf was interfering with school children's "home work" that he reinstated the curfew. So now, when the Tiffin fire bell rings at 9:30 p. m. every child of school age must be off the streets and presumably at home studying.

FIFTY HURT IN POWDER BLAST AND ONE DEAD

Explosion Followed By Fire; Cleveland Store
Wrecked

MUKILTEO, Wash., Sept. 18.—Fifty persons were injured and one unidentified woman was reported to have died from shock early today when thirty tons of powder exploded in the warehouse of the Puget Sound and Alaska Powder Co. here.

The whole town was shaken by the terrific detonations of two blasts, occurring in rapid succession. People fled from their homes, plate glass windows crashed in the business section. Fire department companies from Everett and other nearby cities were summoned.

Origin of the explosion was unknown.

The explosion spread terror and destruction throughout a wide area near Mukilteo. Fire broke out following the blast and fire fighters fought to keep it from reaching 8,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine.

Telephone poles were tumbled over, hundreds of windows along the Mukilteo highway and in Everett were smashed and debris was scattered over a wide area.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—The lives of eight persons were imperiled here today when a terrific explosion demolished a one-story dry goods store building, partly destroyed an adjoining structure and damaged two dwellings.

The blast, the force of which was felt for nearly two miles around, was believed by firemen to have been caused by gas. Damages by the explosion were estimated at $25,000.

Mrs. C. A. Peets, 77, suffered a nervous collapse when the explosion hurled the roof of the store building across the street against the house where she was living. Seven persons living in a house directly back of the demolished store were thrown from their beds by the force of the blast.

YOUTH KILLED BY TROUPERS

BRISTOL, Pa., Sept. 18.—Frank P. Ettacio, 19-year-old Philadelphia youth, was shot and killed by state troopers in a gun battle at Trevoze, near here, early today.

James Logales, 20, alleged to have been Ettacio's accomplice in highway robberies on Street Road, a lonely "lovers' lane," was captured in his Philadelphia home a short time later.

The troopers charged Ettacio and Logales had been preying upon couples in parked automobiles on the road for the last two months.

Ettacio was shot several times in the head and body when he engaged in a gun duel with Troopers James McGuin and Peter Grub-lunas attached to the Doylestown barracks.

JUDGE'S WIFE MUST APPEAR AS WITNESS BEFORE GRAND JURY

Written Answers Not Satisfactory Says
Attorney

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—While search for Judge Joseph F. Crater extended today into Nova Scotia and the Middle-West, District Attorney Crain, conducting a grand jury investigation of the disappearance of the jurist, demanded that the missing judge's wife appear as a witness.

The district attorney said that answers written to questions concerning her husband's disappearance were not satisfactory and that he wanted her to appear before the grand jury.

Mrs. Crater had answered queries by stating she knew nothing of the whereabouts of her husband, that she had not seen him since August 3 at their summer home in Maine and that she knew nothing that might furnish a clue leading to locating him.

Testimony of a witness that the judge had told him he had bought a "small place in Nova Scotia" led to the theory that the jurist might be there.

Authorities were also informed that the justice was believed to have left New York hurriedly early in August for the mid-West. He was said to have been "threatened" prior to his departure.

Still another theory advanced and which may be investigated by the grand jury was that Judge Crater had been killed by a blackmailer. Support of this theory was advanced in pointing to withdrawals of large sums of money from the judge's bank account at various times before he disappeared.

WITNESS TELLS OF WIRE-TAPPING CASE

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—The senatorial campaign expenditures committee was expected to adjourn its investigation of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's primary campaign here today.

First documentary proof of telephone wire tapping on Mrs. McCormick's farm at Byron, Ill., was offered the committee yesterday by T. R. Thompson, publisher of the Rockford Daily Republic. Mrs. McCormick, Republican nominee for United States senator, is controlling stockholder of the paper. Thompson unexpectedly submitted photographic evidence of the taps which bore out charges of espionage and telephone wire tapping made by Mrs. McCormick and Attorney General Carlstrom, the congresswoman's attorney.

DEBRIS BELONGING TO MISSING VESSEL SIGHTED BY TANKER

Coast Guard Searches
For Ship; No Bodies
Found

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Sept. 18.—The fate of the missing wooden steam schooner South Coast, with twenty-four men aboard, remained a mystery today as the United States coast guard cutter Cahokia patrolled Pacific waters off Crescent City, Cal., in search of the vessel and its crew.

Meanwhile, a more extensive search was planned along the coast between Rogue River and Brookings, where, it is feared, the South Coast was wrecked. The ship was due in Marshfield from Crescent City at 4 a. m. yesterday. She left Crescent City Tuesday noon and had not been sighted until the tanker Tejon radioed that a deck-house, apparently belonging to the missing ship, was seen floating on the water.

The Tejon's wireless message was the first intimation that disaster may have overcome the South Coast. Later the steamer Lake Benbow reported picking up an empty lifeboat on the South Coast and sighting drifts of cedar logs, part of the missing ship's cargo.

Marine experts here expressed fear that the South Coast may have been wrecked in a heavy northwest wind, which has been blowing along this section of the coast for the past two days, aggravated by dense fog.

The vessel, built in 1887, was commanded by Captain Stanley Sorenson and owned by Hobbs, Wall and Co. It was loaded with a cargo of lumber, consigned from Crescent City to the Port of Origin Cedar Products Co. here.

It was nevertheless hoped that all or part of the South Coast's crew may have escaped in lifeboats. Gold Beach, Brookings and Port Orford are possible refuges for the crew members, but none of them had been reported at any of these places early today.

Besides Captain Sorenson, those missing aboard the ship are: A. J. Tallakent, first mate; P. Stanbourn, second mate; W. J. Baird, chief engineer; R. J. Efford, assistant engineer; Crist Larsen, Harry Lukkas, Ludvig Olson, John Sundman, John Davis, Benjamin Hanson, Mattie Dahl, Lauritz Hoem, Eivind Ellingson, George Newlands, Gust Orson, Henry Nicholls, Rudolph Gronstadt, Robert Haynes and five stevedores, whose names were unknown to the ship's owners.

PRISONER IS SLAIN TRYING TO BREAK JAIL

Dummy Gun Used In Attempt To Escape
County Jail

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 18.—Frank Cubit, about 30, held here under indictment for numerous kidnaps, was shot and killed today by Deputy Sheriff Dick O'Brien while attempting to escape the Peoria County jail.

Cubit, formerly a prisoner at the Kansas State Penitentiary, got out of his cell armed with a dummy gun which he had cut out of cardboard. In the jail proper, he struck Charles Geier, night jailer, over the head with a mop handle. Geier broke free, saving his keys, and fled into the elevator, which he ran up and down while screaming for help.

Cubit, still carrying his "gun," ran down to the basement and terrorized the help there. Then he returned to the first floor, where O'Brien shot and killed him. Cubit apparently made his attempted break unassisted.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

God's Law—And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoso marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery.—Matthew 19:9.

A SIMPLE DEFINITION

The other day Dr. Paul R. Heyl, United States bureau of standards physicist, undertook to give a definition of the "fourth dimension" in simple language. Dr. Heyl is the man who recently decided that the earth weighs roughly 6,592,000,000,000,000,000 tons. For lighter recreation he draws pictures of what the hypothetical dimension ought to look like, or might look like if it could be made something more than a scientific ghost in the dark, so he ought to know all there is to know about it. At any rate this is the doctor's definition:

"A straight line is in the first dimension; theoretically you make it by moving a dot in any direction. Move that line and you get a plane figure, such as a square—theoretically the second dimension. Move the square in a direction not contained in it, such as up or down, and you make a cube, a figure of the third dimension. Move that third dimension theoretically in some direction, which we do not yet comprehend even in imagination, and the result is a figure of the fourth dimension."

Mebbe so, mebbe so. But why not make a still more "simple" definition by going Herr Einstein a few better, conceiving the fourth dimension as the dimension of obliteration to the original point, or something of that sort, and saying, that in order to "create" it, the cube moves in on itself until it disappears like the Cheshire cat and becomes non-existent? That sort of a definition would be as simple as any other, and would have the merit of leaving nothing behind to contradict.

CONSTITUTION WEEK

A hundred and forty-three years ago this week the framers of the federal constitution concluded their deliberations. The necessity of engraving copies of the document delayed the actual signing of it until September 17, 1787. The latter date has therefore been adopted as the beginning of Constitution Week, which is now annually observed for the purpose of familiarizing Americans with the history and genius of the instrument that brought the original 13 states under a single government and now holds 48 states together in a legally indissoluble compact.

A more perfect knowledge of the history and nature of the constitution than most Americans reveal is necessary if this marvel of statescraft is to receive the respect that is due it. A fuller knowledge of the genius and goal of the constitution alone can protect it through the years to come from the consequence of departing too radically from the broad and immutable principles upon which it is based. Already one or two mistakes have been made that hold the danger signal.

The constitution must be kept alive and responsive to changed or changing conditions; but if it is to endure, without cracking, amendments to it must be advanced in the same spirit as that which made its adoption possible in 1787-88. That was the spirit of compromise, a willingness to subordinate local or factional claims to the common good. As the country and its population have grown the necessity for compromising such claims has multiplied. The appeal of Benjamin Franklin to his hesitating fellow-delegates on September 17, 1787, will bear remembering: "That every member of the convention who may still have objections to it, will, with me, on this occasion, doubt a little of his own infallibility." The infallible fanatic is the worst enemy of orderly government in this country today, as he has been of every government the world has known.

UNEMPLOYMENT CURE

The following comment on the present unemployment situation appeared in a recent issue of the Federal Council Bulletin:

"Unemployment is a difficult problem, to be sure, and yet the principal reason that further progress toward its solution has not been made is because the public conscience has not yet been aroused on the subject. One of the most prominent manufacturers in this country said recently that if we had applied to the problems of unemployment as much intelligence and effort as we have to the development of new machinery for our factories, we should be well on our way to a successful solution."

The WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

EARNED PRAISE

It's a fine tribute which the principal Paris newspaper pays able statesman Poincare on his 70th birthday. The great French leader has guided, defended, saved France. The editor concludes: "M. Poincare has reached his seventieth year, which for others would be a signal for retirement. With him, however, it is different, and if she again has need, France will find him ready to guide, to serve, to defend."

At 70 a man in sound health should have his best judgment. By that time he should know the true from the false.

RELIGIOUS

Examine great business institutions and you find the biggest executive in almost every business is a religious man. He may be Protestant, Catholic, Jew. He may belong to no church but he will be a man of reverence for unseen powers and for the Great Creative Spirit. He may be uninterested in creeds and not much interested in churches, but he will not be an irreligious man.

PULLING TOGETHER

The radio pulls us together. Tiresome as many programs are, the capacity of the radio to bring the nation into co-operative effort is gigantic. February 22, 1932, it will have been 200 years since the birth of Washington. Plans are already suggested for a radio hook-up which will enable the combined marine, army and navy bands to lead millions all over the land in the singing of the national anthem. The president will address both houses of congress. The whole nation for a day will have its mind trained on the ideas and the ideals of the founders of the republic.

Seeing the high purposes to which it can be put, one can almost forgive the radio for its annoyances.

BOOMING SUNDAY SCHOOLS

More than 37,000,000 persons are enrolled in Sunday schools. That's a far cry from the first Sunday school in the world, set up 150 years ago in Sooty alley, Gloucester, England. It was started for street lads by Robert Raikes, British editor, in 1780. The United States alone has more than 21,000,000 in Sunday schools.

Old-fashioned classes and old-fashioned lessons are outworn. Today's youth has new and different problems. Modern Sunday schools are trying to teach boys and girls how to face changed circumstances in life. There is a place for the school which meets the needs of a new day, which talks to young people about their actual problems in a way they can understand.

SUPERSTITION AND THINKING

If we haven't courage enough to give up superstition in favor of thinking we are ready for the graveyard. In fact, we are in it and lying down. We simply lack official notification of the fact that we have passed on.

Flags

What are the national flags of Hungary, Germany and Czechoslovakia?

Hungary's flag is red, white and green; Germany's is black, red and gold; Czechoslovakia's is white, red and blue.

Yes, a Real Mary

Was there really a Mary who had a little lamb?

Yes, Mary was Mary Elizabeth Sawyer, and her lamb followed her to the Redstone Schoolhouse of Sterling District No. 2, about 25 miles west of Boston. The schoolhouse now stands on the grounds of Wayside Inn, near Boston.

Cameo

What is a cameo? A piece of relief carving in stone (usually sardonyx or agate) with color layers utilized to give background.

Steve Brodie

What was the feat which Steve Brodie performed? He jumped off Brooklyn bridge, July 23, 1896.

Von Stroheim

What is the correct pronunciation of the name of the movie actor, Eric Von Stroheim? Stroheim is pronounced as if it were spelled Stro-hyme. The last syllable rhymes with rhyme.

Robin Hood

What can you tell me about Robin Hood?

Whether or not Robin Hood was a real person has not been clearly determined. He is supposed to have been an outlaw in the reign of Richard I and was the leader of a band of 100 tall men who met in Sherwood Forest, in England. Common people loved him because he and his archers robbed the rich but always were kind to the poor and women, giving them part of his booty.

Appetizer

What is pate de foie gras? A paste made from the livers of especially fattened geese, greatly prized as an appetizer.

Banyan Tree

How does the banyan tree grow? It has branches which send shoots into the earth, taking root, so that eventually the tree has many trunks linked together by branches.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.—Percy Granger, the musician, got back from a vacation recently and was discovered by a newspaper man trundling his trunks from the railroad station to the Granger home—stead in a wheelbarrow.

"How come?" queried the reporter.

"There's too much dignity in the world," replied Percy.

The reporter spat thoughtfully into a nearby bed of pansies.

"Ain't it the truth!" he said.

ART FOR ART'S SAKE

John Voorhis, the Grand Old Man of Tammany Hall, breezed past the Hundredth Mile Stone on the Big Road some time ago and a New York sculptor conceived the idea of hacking out a bust of John, in deathless bronze, said bust to occupy a place of honor in the grand corridor of the Wigwam.

The artist sent an agent to "feel out" Jimmy Walker on the proposition. Jimmy listened gravely, as all humorists the world over listen, and then said:

"I think any man who lives to be a hundred in these strenuous times deserves a bust."

Not knowing Jimmy very well, the agent did not realize that "bust" was using the word "bust" in its larger meaning.

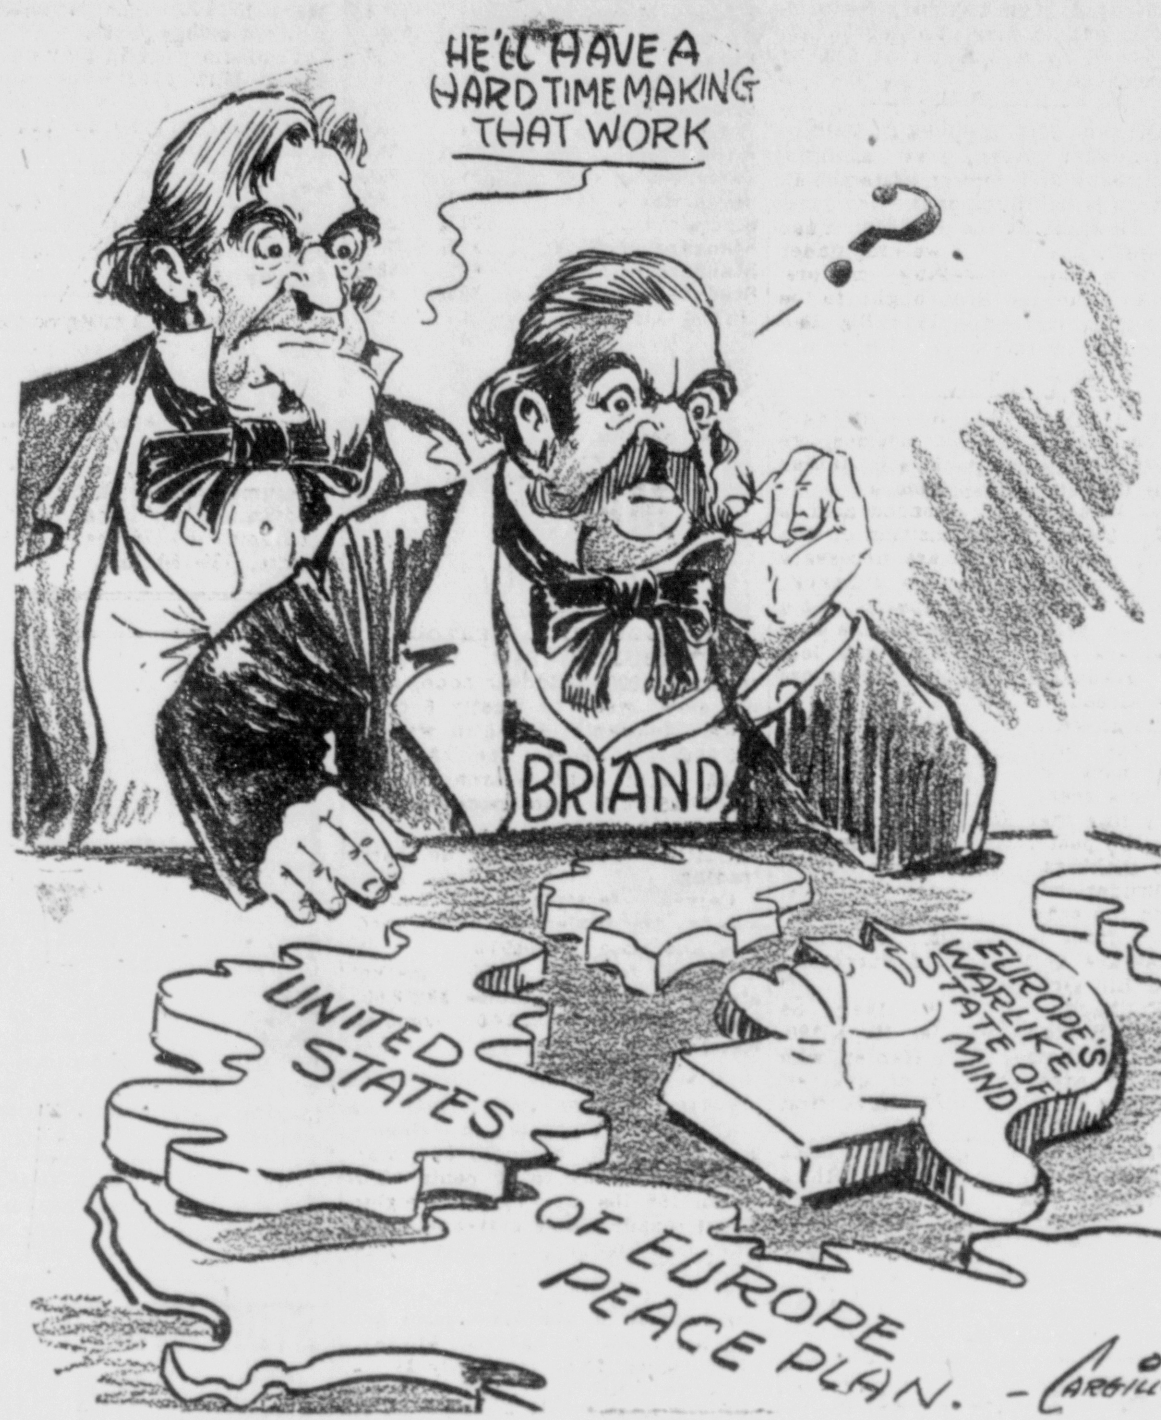

The bronze was duly delivered, accompanied by an invoice for $1,000. The Committee on Fine Arts walked around the bust a couple of times and a bitter and acrimonious debate ensued as to whether it was meant to be a likeness of Corse Payton or the late lamented Dr. Munyon. It was finally relegated to the cellar and the bill was returned.

The sculptor was informed that if he'd send for the bust without delay, all would be well. If not, he'd probably be arrested, charged with a statutory offense.

The fact that the sculptor is a Republican has nothing to do with the matter.

As a prominent Tammany Man explained: "When it comes to the higher things in life, like music, art and all that sort of hokey, we never let partisan politics stand in the way of our judgment."

ONE THAT DOESN'T SEEM TO FIT!

STEWART SYMPATHIZES WITH VISITORS WHO TOTE PLUG HATS ACROSS OCEAN ONLY TO FIND THEM NOT NEEDED HERE

WASHINGTON — Anyone who ever encumbered himself with a plug hat on a long trip (especially a trip involving many changes, from boat to train, from train to train and back again, with the infernal stovepipe to worry about every time) will be certain to sympathize with the British and French delegations of guests at the American Bar association's recent meeting, who brought their toppers all the way across the Atlantic, only to find blue serge sack coats and white flannel pants "de rigueur" at the White House reception in their honor.

Does a silk tie do to wear in combination with such a get-up? Well, hardly! Accordingly, back went a score or so of elegant beaver lids to Europe, never once out of their hat-boxes on this side of the water, or, if any of them were taken out at all, it was for some other occasion than the most important one on which their owners had expected to wear them.

An experienced traveler can pack almost anything but a plug hat into comparatively small compass. I myself have journeyed, all on the same expedition, as far as from London to Constantinople and return, including short stopovers in Paris, Munich, Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade, Sofia and Bucharest, with every necessary appurtenance compressed into an easily-portable suitcase—save and excepting the stovepipe hat needed, to complete my "ensemble," when calling on cabinet ministers, generals, prominent revolutionists and miscellaneous notabilities.

A plug lid, however, simply cannot survive transport in a suitcase or a trunk or any other type of container except a large sole leather cylinder, especially constructed to protect it.

A hat-box is not heavy, but it is a bulky, awkward thing to handle, always coming unfastened and, flopping open and threatening to spill the hat out. It is an extra piece of baggage, anyway. Besides, to an American tourist (unlike not to a European, because of his different training) it is a constant source of irritation—the darn box and its contents seem so utterly redundant. Yet a topper is not, in fact, redundant—not in Europe, that is to say.

There it is as essential as a pair of trousers, for an appearance in official society—a topper and a frock coat. Any other sartorial deficiency, perhaps, will be pardoned, as an oversight or an accident; but never the omission of a jaupanned sky-piece, or coat-tails.

Ah, that trip I took to Constantinople—now called Istanbul. Unused to old world travel's hazards, I had risked carrying my starched millinery in the pasteboard box I originally bought it in, and a frontier guard at Adrianopolis accidentally grounded his rifle butt through the top of it when I set it down on the station platform to get out my passport.

It was a tense situation. Due to the then Ottoman capital in a couple of hours, I already was slated to interview the foreign minister. Hilmi Pasha, immediately on arrival—actually had donned my tail-coat in transit—and here was my plug hat with the crown gone out of it—no time to spare up another and much too important a potentate to be kept waiting.

Turkey was the only country in Europe in which there was a means of escape from such a dilemma in those days.

But that was a long while ago. Abdul Hamid still reigned. President Kemal Pasha (with his post-war decrees excluding all but occidental styles in head gear from the present republic) had not so much as heard of the fez was tip-top form for any occasion. Indeed, it was deemed a mark of courtesy in a "glamour" to wear one, calling on a Moslem functionary.

The apologetic guard surrendered his—for a consideration. It was not a very fancy one, but it passed muster at Hilmi's.

Now, however, Turkish officialdom is the most plugged hatted anywhere.

Thus the American Bar association's visitors from overseas, knowing in advance that they were to be received at the White House, had no choice, judging from experience in every other capital on earth, but to bring their toppers with them.

And that was exactly the reception (given, too, by President Hoover, well as he knows European custom) at which they were not needed.

It was not exactly the same sort of an incident that befell the European delegates who attended the Interparliamentary union's gathering in Washington two or three years ago—and yet, in a way, this recalls the earlier episode, in the surprise it must have given to our old world guests.

The Interparliamentary folk were

Peter's Adventures

By Mrs. Florence Smith Vincent

"MAKE WAY FOR THE QUEEN!"

"Whew!" Peter mopped his brow. "There's one good job done, and I'm not sorry. I've heard it said it was pretty hard to talk on eggs, but I don't believe it is much more difficult than carrying eggs in and out of Ant-Hills. By the way, Busy, what possessed you to scamper in and leave me outside the nursery door. Did you want to find out whether Sentry was on her job or did you think to have a little fun with me?"

"The very ideal! I never thought of such a thing!" Busy was indignant. "I wanted to lay down my burdens. Just the same as you did. Besides, I never dreamed you'd have any trouble with Sentry. She's rather a good-natured sort when you really know her."

"What is she when you don't?" began Peter, thinking to tease Busy a bit. But Busy didn't answer. Instead, she cocked her head on one side. Busy was listening.

"What's up now?" demanded Peter. Busy opened her mouth to speak, but a loud voice answered for her.

"Make way for the Queen!" it cried. "Make way for the Queen!" Suddenly the nursery was filled with Ants, and more Ants were entering from the gallery door. At the head of the crowd was the largest Ant Peter yet had seen. This large Ant was the Queen. Peter needed only one guess to tell him that. He knew by the crown on her head. However, there was no throne waiting for this Queen as there had been in the Beehive. Nor did the big Ant seem to expect to sit down. Instead, she walked back and forth, back and forth, from one side of the room to another, her crown tipped to one side of her head.

here to the number of two or three hundred, and they represented, by actual count, 43 different languages.

The biggest and swiftest hotel in town put them up in fine style, and the first night they passed under its roof, in true European fashion, each delegate put his shoes outside his door, in the corridor, to be cleaned, in readiness for his next morning.

Somewhat flabbergasted by so unexpected and large scale a development, the hotel management nevertheless rose to the emergency, sent a battalion of bellhops to gathering up the footwear, and detailed a corps of porters in the basement to give it the proper attention.

Only one detail was forgotten, the task being of an unaccustomed nature to the workers engaged in it: the chalking of the corresponding room number upon each pair of soles was neglected.

This oversight's seriousness became apparent when a distribution was attempted.

The difficulty finally was solved by piling all the shoes in the lobby and inviting their owners to appear in their stocking feet in the morning, to sort out their own from the collection—settling disputes among themselves, as they did so, in their 43 different languages.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINT

Chicken Vegetable Hash Chili Sauce
Corn on Cob Cabbage salad
Peach custard Pie Tea or Coffee
Chicken hash is a little different way of using up the cold chicken. If you have not made your chili sauce yet, here's a good recipe, and you can tell the family sample it with their hash.

Today's Recipes

Chicken Vegetable Hash—Two cups cold chicken, one-half cup celery, four boiled potatoes, one medium sized onion, one cooked carrot, two hard cooked eggs. Cut all ingredients fine, put all together in a pan, pour over enough chicken broth to cover. Boil about fifteen minutes, salt to taste. Thicken with flour. If you have no broth you can use milk enough to cover.

Chili Sauce—Twelve ripe tomatoes, six onions, medium size; three green peppers, one cup sugar, table-spoons salt, one pint vinegar. Scald, peel and slice tomatoes. Peel onions under water. Wash peppers and remove seeds, then chop with onions (food chopper). Mix all ingredients and cook slowly two hours, or until thick. Put in bottles or jars and seal while hot.

Peach Custard Pie—Line pie plate with paste and fill with sliced peaches. Add one cup sugar, a scant tablespoon flour, sprinkle with cinnamon, dot with butter. Beat two egg yolks, pinch of salt, two tablespoons of sweet cream. Four over peaches and bake until thick. Beat egg whites with three tablespoons of sugar and a little vanilla, spread thickly over top of pie. Brown in a slow oven.

For Cold Drinks

Boil sugar and water to make a sirup and add to chilled beverage for sweetening. Add lemon juice to all chilled beverages. The lemon aids in properly combining all the other fruit juices.

Hardening of Arteries

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What makes the blood pressure go up? That question we left unanswered yesterday. We saw that as age advances, any one individual's blood pressure tends to rise. Where at 20 years it is normally 120, at 50 it is 150. We also compared the physiology of blood pressure to a garden hose, the pressure of the pump and the pressure of the heart being alike in making first the pressure of the water from the hose and then the blood pressure what it is.

These, however, are not the only factors in blood pressure. The hose made of rubber is elastic, and it maintains a pressure on the column of water it encloses. The arteries also are elastic and maintain a pressure on the column of blood. If the hose gets old, or if you have a hose of iron pipe instead of a rubber hose, the pressure of the pump will have to be much higher in order to throw the water the same distance. Likewise, when, as age advances, the arteries lose their elasticity, the pressure of the pump, the heart, must be greater to keep the blood circulating. Thus hardening of the arteries, a natural accompaniment of age, makes the blood pressure higher.

Again, if you put your finger over the end of the hose, thus narrowing the outlet, and making the stream smaller, the pressure behind in the hose will be higher. The same things occur in the human body. An artery or a large number of arteries, as in the kidneys or in the brain, narrow their caliber when they harden, and this may raise the blood pressure of the whole body.

Some physicians believe that spasm occurs in certain arteries all over the body, thus causing the blood pressure to rise. Others think that the loss of elasticity in the arteries all over the body alone causes the increase.

But the natural increase of the blood pressure as age advances is not the only kind of blood pressure we have. In some persons the rise comes early in life and ascends to much more considerable heights than any we have yet spoken of. At the age of 40 these people may have pressures of 250 or even more. Many observations of such people show that they usually die at fairly early ages. The cause of death is in most cases kidney degeneration—Bright's disease, or heart failure, due to the enormous strain the heart has been under for years of keeping up these pressures, or lastly from apoplexy, which is the bursting of a blood vessel in the brain—bursting because it can no longer resist the strain of the enormous internal pressure.

These individuals, the subject of so-called malignant high blood pressure, are usually active and vigorous up to within a few years of death. The cause of the condition is by no means settled. In fact, it is one of the least settled questions in medicine today. Heredity unquestionably plays a part. But what does heredity do to their circulatory apparatus? We cannot answer except to suggest it causes their arteries to narrow very early in life. They have inherited bad plumbing from the beginning.

(EDITORS NOTE: Dr. Clendenning cannot diagnose or give personal answers to letters from readers. Where questions of general interest, however, they will be taken up, in order, in the daily column. Devote Yourself To Only One Girl

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

A WORRIED FARMER BOY: Don't go out with other girls, but devote yourself only to your own girl. Show by your words and actions both that you care and are earnest when winning her. If she won't believe you then and accept your love, keep right on "showing her" until she gives in.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I went to a girl friend's house a few days ago and she tried to make me tell her a secret that had been entrusted to me. When I refused she became angry and told me to go home. I did, but now she says she was only joking. Do I owe her an apology?"

"Boy friend took my compact one evening and refused to give it back. I told him I would snub him if he didn't. I saw him again and carried out my threat. Now he is really angry. Who is at fault, Virginia?"

"MISS UNDERSTOOD?" You were the poor abused child in both instances, Miss Understood. The girl friend should apologize first for trying to pry into what was none of her business, and second for being so rude as to tell a guest to go home.

Then the boy friend had no business taking your compact, but possibly he wanted it as a proof of your affection, and was hurt when you appeared angry and snubbed him. Don't make rash threats next time. The carrying of them out is often embarrassing. Better have laughed the matter off. Tell him you're sorry you were cross but you really do want your compact back; and will give him something else, to remember you by.

BROKEN HEARTED BETSY: Can't see any reason for confessing the purple past to the boy friend. I don't believe it was very purple, anyhow, according to your letter. Presume, if the truth were known, he has wasted kisses and affection on other girls besides you. Most people do before they reach the age of discretion or matrimony.

Cosmetics Can Accent Good Points

By GLADYS GLAD

BY SUBDUING the unbecoming points, and by accenting the pretty ones, the artistic application of rouge can modify the whole appearance of your face. Stage and screen stars employ a number of little tricks when applying their cosmetics. French women use many of these little makeup arts in daily life. But unless you can put a great deal of artistry into their use, I would advise you to forego them.

The woman who has large eyes and wishes to accentuate their size, does so by applying the faintest bit of rouge under the eyebrows. Of course, if you darken the lids of your eyes with an eye shadow cream, you can't put the rouge under the eyebrows as well.

The majority of American women have not learned how to use the eye-shadow creams with the artistry demanded to make them most effective. Therefore, in most cases, the faint bit of rouge will appear more natural than the eye-shadow cream.

The French woman who aims to give a flushed, animated expression to her face also puts the tiniest bit of rouge on her chin and little dabs on the lobes of her ears. Pale, waxy ears are most unhealthy looking. But use caution, for too much of the color will make your ears look frost-bitten.

An extreme makeup, but one that the girl with a long narrow nose can adopt in order to make her nose appear shorter and more pliant, is to apply a touch of rouge under the tip of the nose.

And again, if around the nostrils it will make you appear ridiculous. If you have a short, broad nose, don't use this innovation in makeup. It will only enhance the shortness of your nose. If you wish to use the makeup

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Still PUZZLED."

You've got nothing on me, dear Virginia. If you are the girls who wrote in to say that you are in your teens and that your parents simply rave when boys are mentioned, if your parents wrote to me I could give them advice on how to handle the situation, but the chances are your parents either don't read the column or they think their way is better than mine. For which, of course, we can't blame them. I'm not responsible for you girls. They are.

I do think parents who "rave" when their girls show signs of being interested in boys are a bit wrong. But what can I do about it? And what can I advise the girls? Nothing, but that as long as they are under their parents' jurisdiction they should obey, try to get as much fun with their girl friends and occasional parties when both sexes mingle as they can, and wait until they are a bit older and their parents see that keeping young people apart can't be done.

After all, puzzled girls, you do know that some girls whose parents allow them much freedom do cause said parents a good deal of worry. You can't blame your parents when they read such columns as mine, for instance, and see just how many little girls of 16 or so are set on marrying before they have any judgment or even know that their love will last. Your parents are devoted to you and do everything for you. It won't be long now before you are through school and free, so why not love said parents and enjoy their companionship and not kick?</

OPENS MAT SHOWS IN XENIA

JACK KOGUT

Here's Jack Kogut, sensational legdrop star from Dayton, who meets Earl Hanson, of Kansas City, at the Opera House next Tuesday evening. Both men are top notch stars and a great battle is expected when they tangle.

Young Hopple, of Dayton, and Earl Smith, of Troy, clash in the thirty minute semi-final. The show is arranged by the Eagles.

BOWLING

Bowlers in the Senior Business Men's League rolled the first of a series of three weekly practice matches Wednesday night. Three unofficial matches were decided upon in order to compare the average scores of the bowlers before determining the makeup of the three teams which will compose the league this season. By this method the league hopes to divide the players in such a way the competing teams will be as evenly matched as possible. The following scores were recorded in Wednesday night's match:

JAMESTOWN TO PLAY FAST DAYTON TEAM

The Jamestown Independents will be put to their severest diamond test of the season Sunday afternoon at Leach Park when they face the Griesmer Coals of Dayton. This Dayton nine has been the special jinx of the Xenia Merchants won two straight games from Jamestown, indicating the Independents are scheduled to take a beating Sunday afternoon. Evans, who held the Xenia Merchants to five runs in two games but lost both contests, will attempt to subdue the Dayton bats.

Not being in the best of health, Bill Moorehead, leading bowler in the city last season, may not bowl at all this season. Despite the fact Bill has not been in the lineup the first two matches, the champion Greene County Lumber Co. quintet has gotten away to a flying start in defense of the title it has won for three straight years by winning six straight games, due largely to the sensational rolling of "Batter" Peterson, who has averaged 209 a game.

Dallas Marshall, after being flat on his back with scarlet fever for a month, is up and around now and will help officiate Bath Twp. High School's opening football game Friday.

WASHINGTON MAYOR REFUSES TO RESIGN

WASHINGTON, C. H., Sept. 18.—Still awaiting the arrival of Norman O. Whiting, Marietta, district supervisor of the Ohio prohibition department, to investigate his alleged laxity in enforcing the dry laws here, Mayor P. H. Curtin today again declared that he would not resign his post no matter what happens.

It seems that Mayor Curtin was to have a "date" with the prohibition official either Tuesday or Wednesday. But, so far, Supervisor Whiting has failed to show up, nor has he explained the reason for his absence.

In the meantime, Curtin is still firm in his belief that it is not right to impose heavy fines on men who have violated the liquor laws but who are out of work and have families to look out for.

BARLOW WINS FIRST

Dr. William T. Ungard was eliminated by Jack Barlow Wednesday afternoon in a first round match of the annual tournament to determine the 1930 golf champion of the Xenia Country Club. Barlow's victory was by a margin of 4 up and 3 to play in an eighteen-hole match. He shot a 79, nine strokes over par, as compared with an 83 for Dr. Ungard.

NORTHWESTERN HAS EXCELLENT CHANGE IN GRID CAMPAIGN

(Editors' Note: This is the second article of a series on Big Ten football teams and their outlook for the coming season.)

By LEO FISCHER
International News Service Sports Writer

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 18.—If we were following the method of rating popular with movie critics, we'd put a string of at least five stars in front of Northwestern University's football hopes.

Unless everyone on the squad makes a specialty of walking under ladders, and breaking mirrors, Dick Hanley's team ought to be in the thick of the 1930 Big Ten championship fight.

There's just one cloud on the horizon—just one sour note in this optimistic song. Reserve strength is inadequate and if injuries are more than average, Coach Hanley will have a real problem.

At least one experienced man is available for every position on the team. Replacements are necessary only for Russ Berghem, fullback; Henry Anderson, guard, and Mickey Erickson, center—the sole regulars among the nine men lost by graduation. Their successors are already in sight.

Berghem's loss will be made up by the return of Hank Bruder, star back, who is wearing number 13 this season to ward off the injury jinx that has trailed him during the past two years. Bruder has the makings of an all-American.

Bruder will play one halfback, with the other being selected probably from a trio of lettermen. They are Al Moore, Sid Burnstein, and Bill Griffin.

Fullback will most likely be "Pug" Rentner of Joliet, Ill., a 190-pound sophomore. Lee Hanley, who did an excellent job of quarterbacking last year, will have first call again for the post.

Moving into the line, one finds Coach Hanley confronted with a situation that would probably drive a good many coaches crazy—ends and tackles from last season are back. Reserves are lacking, however.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—While the momentum of the stock market increased slightly today, there was no appreciable change in the movement of prices. The bears sprinkled the market with selling orders for American Rolling Mills, Vanadium, Westinghouse and other speculative favorites in the forenoon, forcing downward the general level of prices and causing losses of a point or two all along the line. From this depression most stocks had difficulty in recovering, though in isolated cases industrial snapped back to the level of Wednesday's close.

A drop in the price of copper metal to 10½ cents a pound for the domestic market, and further price-cutting in gasoline did not help matters for the bulls. Grain and cotton failed to show very much rallying power. Money was a drug on the market, with funds offered "outside" as low as 1½ per cent, while the rate at the money-deck was unchanged at 2 per cent.

American Rolling Mills dropped 4 points to 45½, the year's lowest price.

Atlantic Refining and the Standard Oil, together with a number of the low-priced independents, bore the brunt of the selling in the oil group, following reports of further "gas" price wars. Atlantic Refining at 32½ was within 2 points of the year's lowest price.

SLAYER PARDONED BY M'KINLEY HELD FOR MURDER AGAIN

BELLAIRE, O., Sept. 18.—Pardoned by the late President William McKinley when the latter was governor of Ohio, after having been sent to the Ohio penitentiary for the murder of a man who insulted his mother, William Bradford, 66, is again facing a similar complaint.

Bradford faces a charge of murder for killing his sweetheart, Mrs. Grace Lyle, 34, of Wheeling, W. Va., several weeks ago. He is being held without bail.

Bradford, a native of New Martinsville, W. Va., is a son of a former Bellaire hotel man and for twenty-three years he has been hotelkeeping, he claims. He operated a roadside near here for many years and has a long police record both in Ohio and in West Virginia. He has been married three times. Two of his wives are dead, and he has been sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for the murder of a man who insulted his mother, William Bradford, 66, is again facing a similar complaint.

Bradford had accused her of having relations with another man. He emptied his revolver into her body. She ran to the bedroom of the hotel, and with blood pouring from her wounds, fell dead on the bed.

The man then reloaded his gun and fired three more shots into the body of the dead woman.

Telling the Games girl that he had come to kill her for helping Mrs. Lyle "get away" with her relations with another man, Bradford had accused her of having relations with another man. He emptied his revolver into her body. She ran to the bedroom of the hotel, and with blood pouring from her wounds, fell dead on the bed.

Bradford sat on the porch of Mrs. Lyle's home and calmly awaited the arrival of police. Nine bullets had entered his victim's body, a coroner's inquest showed.

MERGED SEMINARY OPENS WITH SIXTY PUPILS ENROLLED

Pittsburgh - Xenia Theological Seminary, outgrowth of a merger of the 136-year-old Xenia Theological Seminary, formerly located at St. Louis, Mo., and the 105-year-old Pittsburgh Seminary, has an enrollment of sixty students and an endowment of approximately $1,000,000, according to T. Dales Kyle, this city, member of the board of trustees, who was present for the formal opening exercises at Pittsburgh, Pa., Wednesday.

Consolidation of the two seminaries, completed this summer, centers United Presbyterian theological education at Pittsburgh, Pa., the new board of directors of twelve members being composed of several of the former trustees of both institutions, in addition to a few new members.

Endowment of the former Xenia Seminary, which amounted to $270,000, was transferred to the merged institution, according to Mr. Kyle. The faculty of the consolidated seminary includes the Rev. M. G. Kyle, who was professor emeritus of Xenia Seminary, as well as the following four ministers who were formerly affiliated with the Xenia Seminary faculty: R. M. Kart, J. H. Webster, J. L. Kelso and G. B. McCreary.

THREE HURT WHEN AUTOS COLLIDE

Minor injuries were received by three Cincinnati men when their sedan upset along the Springfield Pike late Wednesday afternoon after being crowded off the highway by an unidentified autoist who is reported to have driven on without stopping. The accident occurred near the Xenia Fish Hatchery, two miles north of Xenia.

Jacob Sandel, the driver, and August Kellerman were scratched and bruised and George Schneider suffered a sprained back.

The machine in which the trio was riding was traveling south. Two cars approached from the opposite direction and when one attempted to pass the forward car Sandel, in order to avert a head-on collision, swerved his car too far to the side of the pike, causing it to overturn, it is said.

COUNTY BUYS SITE FOR STORAGE HERE

Property located on Collier St., which County Commissioners announced has been purchased from Herman E. Sellers at a cost of $2,050, will be used for storage of road equipment, including machinery, tools and conveyances.

A spacious building and 9,900 square feet of land are included in the purchase.

For many years the county has housed its road equipment at a local garage and at the fairgrounds, the rental cost for storage and housing being about $500 a year. Through the acquisition of the Collier St. property County Commissioners believe a substantial saving will be effected.

KONJOLA BRINGS LASTING RELIEF TO DAYTON LADY

Rheumatism, Neuritis, And Kidney Trouble Yield In Turn To Power Of Famous Medicine.

"I suffered for years with rheumatism, neuritis, and kidney trouble," said Mrs. Nannie Roy, 15 Dayton Ave., Dayton, Ohio. "Agonizing pains shot through my shoulders and the back of my neck. My head ached constantly and the joints of my arms and fingers were stiff and swollen from rheumatism. Disordered kidneys caused severe pains across my back and bladder actions were frequent. Constant suffering caused me to be weak, run-down and very nervous. Within a month after I began taking Konjola my health was greatly improved. My kidneys were stimulated to normal action and my sleep was restful. My nerves became calm. I have taken six bottles of Konjola and the frightful pains of neuritis and rheumatism have entirely gone. I have gained steadily in strength and energy. I have not taken Konjola for four months but I am still in excellent health."

This is not an exceptional case. The files of Konjola are filled with just such instances. Try this new medicine today.

Konjola is a new and different medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of them the juices of herbs long known for their medicinal value. Konjola works quickly and thoroughly at the very root, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola is not designed to give mere temporary relief, but to bring new, glorious and lasting health.

Konjola is sold in Xenia, Ohio, at the Gallaher Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

BULLSKIN HIGHWAY WORK PROMISED BY GOVERNOR COOPER

Because Prof. H. C. Aultman, Greene County school superintendent and president of the Bullskin-Xenia Highway Association, was disabled by a slight illness, a scheduled trip to Columbus Wednesday morning, which was to have been made by a committee from Greene, Clinton and Clermont Counties, for the purpose of enlisting Governor Cooper's aid in obtaining the release of money to finance road work on the Bullskin-Xenia Highway this fall, was called off.

Prof. Aultman, however, had a long-distance conversation with Governor Cooper as a result of which the chief executive promised that a certain sum of money would be allocated for improvement of that part of the historic trail in the southern part of Ohio, the portion which passes through Clermont County and is in particular need of improvement.

The committee representing the Bullskin-Xenia trail hopes that work on the highway will be speeded up in order to provide employment for drought-stricken farmers in the area.

"A SIGNIFICANT EXAMPLE"

Says SAMUEL HARDEN CHURCH President of the Carnegie Institute

—that great enterprise founded by Andrew Carnegie at Pittsburgh for the promotion of art, science and literature. Known throughout the world as a student of current problems.

Chairman of the Board Carnegie Institute of Technology, Director American National Theatre.

Member American Mission to Morocco 1923. Officer of Legion of Honor (France).

"Perhaps the most vital influence in the American business world in recent years has been the tendency of industrial leaders to join hands with science. No more significant example of this trend exists than you: modern use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos. The great success of your experiments demonstrates the wisdom of this union between business and science."

Samuel Harden Church

LUCKY STRIKE — the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos —the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating! Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection — against irritation — against cough

Consistent with its policy of laying the facts before the public, The American Tobacco Company has invited Mr. Samuel Harden Church to review the reports of the distinguished men who have witnessed LUCKY STRIKE'S famous Toasting Process. The statement of Mr. Church appears on this page.

CHAPTER 48

Kitty was extremely nice to Atlee. Her attitude towards him had changed and she made no bones of letting him see it. It obviously amazed him. Apparently he had come for her with trepidation, as if he expected some of the scorn and quiet contempt with which she had treated him after his insult and attempted explanation.

Kitty acted as if nothing had ever happened. Almost his first words were "I didn't dare hope you'd come, after—" but she interrupted him.

"Atlee, there are two forbidden subjects tonight," she commanded. Her hand on his arm and a dash of the dimple made the determination in her voice seem almost a caress.

"We won't talk of anything unpleasant that ever existed between us—that's dead. Let the dead bury their dead! And I won't hear or speak a word of my terrible experience last week! I'm out for a good time! You should feel highly honored, respected sir, that out of a regiment of abject cavaliers I have chosen you to spend this evening with!"

He stared for a moment, then accepted the goods the gods provided.

"Atta girl!" he cried. "I'll show you a good time, too! Then, darling—'We start fresh from here!'"

"We start fresh from here!" affirmed Kitty. "Just as if we were strangers—just as if we had just met for the first time!"

Atlee sat silent a moment. The cab swung sharply about a corner, pitching Kitty into his arms.

They closed around her. Atlee held her tightly for an instant, then kissed her full on the lips.

"The first time I met Miss Wilmot in a taxi I kissed her!" he announced. "If we start fresh, I see nothing for it but to start the same way!"

"Atlee! Behave!" cried Kitty. "I don't want to be pawed and kissed—I want to dance and dine!"

But he seemed certain that he had not offended.

He took her to a dance club, night club, restaurant. Then stayed half an hour in six different places before they found one to their liking. At midnight they wandered into the Golden Pheasant and settled down for a real supper and the rest of the evening. New York "evenings" seldom begin until after the theaters are out.

Kitty thought Atlee was out of his class as far as wealth is concerned. To spend a hundred dollars in the Golden Pheasant in a few hours is sufficiently easy; not to spend more between twelve and three may be difficult! But Kitty did not care what Atlee spent. She did not care the custodian of his pocketbook. In a reckless mood she thought—what did it matter, after all? If she could not have what she wanted she would take what she could get! On with the dance! Brilliant lights, beautiful women, lovely gowns, a superb orchestra, a dancing partner who left nothing to be desired as to clothing, manner, handsome face and the admiring glances he attracted from other women, less fortunate in the appearance of their cavaliers. What more could a girl with a sick heart desire as a means of forgetfulness?

Atlee, like Kitty, seemed to let the excitement of the place get into his blood. He ordered a supper, modest as to quantity, but elaborate as to quality.

Kitty expanded. Her troubles grew less. Atlee became handsomer. The lights sparkled with a thousand diamond facets. Surely life held something else for her, even with Gordon gone—

"I will positively not think of that!" she cried and to her amazement found she had spoken aloud.

Think of what? Atlee asked.

Kitty smiled at him. "For me to know, for you to guess," she answered. "Dance with me!"

Atlee piloted her through the mazes of a swift fox trot. He was a good dancer, if not as skilled as Patty Hemming—"What's become of Patty?" she asked as this not very complimentary thought crossed her mind.

"Patty's down and out I'm afraid!" answered Atlee. "He got on the wrong side of the market and it pinched him hard."

"Oh, I'm sorry. I didn't know he played the market. I thought stock brokers let the other fellow do the risking and just made their commissions!"

"The sensible ones do!" answered Atlee. "But they get tempted once in a while. Never mind Patty! I don't want to have you think about another man! I want you to think about me!"

Kitty gave him a provocative look. He seemed to find it to his liking, for he held her suddenly closer.

"Sweetness!" he whispered. "I told you to behave!" answered Kitty. "We are starting fresh—"

"But you are sweet!" he reproached her.

"I am really entirely forgiven!" "Didn't I tell you we started fresh from here?" demanded Kitty. "If you keep on referring to the past I'll think you don't want to begin again. In which case I'll go home, thank you, and I don't want to go home! I want to stay right here and eat—and dance—and—"

"And what, you darling?" "And forget!" she murmured. Atlee evidently thought she referred to forgetting his insult, all that was in the past.

But Kitty meant something else; some one who looks at her from the mirrors, peered over her shoulder from behind, sorrowed in the faces of men she did not know—Gordon!

"I will not remember!" she cried, again aloud.

But as she said it, she winked rapidly at Atlee; a man stood just behind Atlee, looking at her; too real to be a vision; too genuine to be a thought. Unseen of Atlee, he bowed to her, bravely.

Her heart a lump of ice, her brain a mass of fire, Kitty sported blood showed in her failure to change face. She raised her glass, looked Gordon Platt straight in the face and through him, beyond. In a clear voice she cried to Atlee: "I drink confusion to all liars!" and drained her glass.

The Theater

An interesting situation develops from the action of Dr. J. S. Clifton, state education director, in barring "The Big House," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's prison film, from showing in Ohio.

The order was made temporary, because of the recent Ohio penitentiary fire, and was immediately challenged by the organization of motion picture exhibitors in Ohio, who declared the ever-shifting public taste may make the now-popular film worthless in this state by the time the bars are lifted.

Now then William G. Pickrel, Dayton attorney and Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, is attempting to make political capital from the situation, by attacking the Republican administration for barring the picture.

Pickrel claims the picture, although not drawn from Ohio's unfortunate penitentiary experience, is an indictment of prison conditions, such as permitted 320 men to perish in a fire in Columbus last of readers of this column, is privileged to reveal a new rumor that raises its head among the confusion that followed the censorship order.

William Randolph Hearst, the publisher and nominal head of International News Service, is a large and influential stockholder in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, although his name is not listed among the officers or directors. His International News Service recently carried a story in which William A. Orr, identified as an M-G-M official, had personally appeared in protest against the censorship in Columbus.

Now rumors have it that William A. Orr, the film executive is none other than Bill Orr the Metro press agent and it is further charged that Orr not only did NOT protest the censorship but that he actually urged that the picture be barred. All as a publicity scheme, be it known. It is claimed that Orr suddenly presented himself to the proper authorities shouting "what's the idea in barring 'The Big House'?" and these authorities, to whom the idea had not occurred, were led to believe that the picture would exert pernicious influence likely to affect the coming vote harvest, and that they therefore took a tip from William A. and ordered the film barred. All of which seems a little confusing, and quite a little absurd.

The whole idea seems a little far-fetched for local consumption, although press agents have been known to go farther and accomplish less, in any event it will be interesting to see what Pickrel makes of it during the coming campaign. Then, after all the ballyhoo, if "The Big House" is suddenly sprung on an unsuspecting public, there will be an indication indeed that the whole thing was a sacrifice on the altar of the great god "Publicity." And this contribution may be given a humble place besides the more pretentious blarbs.

Twenty Years '10- Ago -'30

Never since the good old days of long ago, have the horsemen warned to the "Jintown" fair as they are doing this year.

Mr. Joseph Watts appeared in the role of sole judge of the baby show at the Warren County fair at Lebanon.

Strawberries in September is the delicacy the Orville McDonald family, Hook Road, has been enjoying for the last two weeks. The berries came from a small patch in his kitchen garden.

Frank Street's family is having more than its share of afflictions. The 9-year-old daughter is just now getting over typhoid fever and now Mrs. Street and also a 3-year-old daughter have the fever.

WILLIAM R. HEARST

April. Because the administration has permitted these prison conditions to exist, Pickrel uses the censorship as a scourge against the Cooper administration.

An interesting sidelight is the fact that Dr. Clifton is a Democrat, being a holdover appointee of former Governor Vic Donahey, who retained his position in the present administration partly because of recognized ability and partly because of the efforts of strong Republican friends at court. Should the administration be embarrassed by the censorship, someone might well about treason in high places, and blame this renegade for the attack. However, it is not anticipated that Mr. Pickrel's protest will ring that loudly in the ears of the administration, especially with more important issues offering opportune battlegrounds.

However, this reviewer, in the ever alert manner that characterizes his activities in the interest

VICTIM OF PRACTICAL JOKER DRAWS LINE WHEN HEARSE CALLS FOR HIS BODY

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. — Poor Michael Kenny! He goes about his electrical repair business slightly bewildered these days. At any moment an undertaker is likely to call and demand his body. Any time he peers cautiously out the side of his door he may see a collector, advancing with a bill for unasked produce dumped on the Kenny sidewalk.

Kenny is the victim of a perpetual practical joke. It's all so very mystifying.

Twenty-five dollars worth of sandwiches were sent him with a collect bill attached. Kenny had no sooner convinced the delivery man he had not ordered the food than a truck backed up and unloaded fifteen gallons of ice cream which the driver insisted had been ordered by Kenny.

A little while ago a newspaper carried the ad:

"Electricians wanted. Bring tools. Apply all week. Kenny Electric Company, 172 Eighth Avenue."

The next morning Kenny came down to his shop to be mobbed by men who had carried their kits long distances to get jobs. Hundreds more called at the shop that week. The ad was traced to the mail and the trail ended.

Another time a fleet of trucks drove up to Kenny's door and unloaded eighteen tons of coal. The drivers threatened Kenny with violence when he told them to load it up and carry it away again.

Then he got a check for $800, with a note: "Things are picking up good now, Mike. Here's some money you loaned me two years ago." The only catch was Kenny could not cash the check.

Kenny is a patient man. "I didn't mind when they sent the dog-catcher for my two dogs," he said, "or when the ambulance called for a supposedly sick wife, or when chicken dinners were delivered on a fake order or when the gas and light company called to fix pipes with which there was nothing wrong, but when I'm awakened in the middle of the night and somebody asks me to take a taxi several miles to fix their lights—and I'm fool enough to do it—then I say I've had enough."

The climax of something or came through when hearse-droids up the other day and an embalmer asked Mrs. Kenny where was her husband's body. Mrs. Kenny told him there must be some mistake. She had seen Kenny only a half hour ago.

"Anything can happen in a half hour," gloomily predicted the embalmer.

And he insisted on seeing the reported dead man before he consented to leave.

YOUR WASH LOOKS SO WHITE AND CLEAN TODAY!

AND I DIDN'T EVEN SCRUB IT! I'M USING RINSO NOW

Her washday story caused Aunt Sue to change soaps

"It's just too wonderful for words, Aunt Sue. I soak everything in creamy Rinso suds—and out they come bright and gleaming! So white, I don't even bother about boiling."

"This way saves the clothes. My hands are spared, too. And Rinso is economical. Cup for cup, it gives twice as much suds as those lightweight, puffed up soaps."

Rich, safe suds

In tub or washing machine, Rinso is all you need. No bar soaps, chips, powders, softeners—even in the hardest water. A little Rinso gives a lot of rich, lasting suds.

The makers of 38 famous washing machines recommend this safe soap. Get the BIG package. Rinso's thick suds are great for dishes, too.

ELECTION DAY FOR CHEST FUND FRIDAY

All persons who contributed to the Xenia Community Chest fund drive last year are eligible to vote for the twenty-two public-at-large members to be elected on the board of directors of the chest organization in the election to be held all day Friday.

Votes will be cast at the Red Cross office in the Dakin Bldg., on W. Market St. and the polls will remain open from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Printed ballots will bear the names of sixty nominees and the twenty-two men and women receiving the largest number of votes will be declared elected as directors.

Chest contributors who vote Friday are advised, however, that it will be permissible for them to write in the names of additional candidates on the ballot if they so desire, but it is emphasized that no more than twenty-two persons should be voted for.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Irwin Ford will have a hearing in Probate Court on a reckless driving charge at 9 a. m. September 19. Arraigned before Judge S. C. Wright Wednesday he pleaded not guilty and was released when he furnished $100 appearance bond.

Ordinance No. 419

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE OF NOTES OF THE CITY OF XENIA IN ANTICIPATION OF THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONSTRUCTION OF CURBS AND GUTTERS ON CALIFORNIA STREET FROM CINCINNATI AVENUE TO BELLBROOK AVENUE, AND DECLARING THE NECESSITY OF THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS FOR SUCH PURPOSE.

WHEREAS, this Commission has requested the City Auditor to issue his certificate as to the estimated life of the improvement to be constructed from the proceeds of the bonds herein after referred to and of the notes to be issued in anticipation of the issuance of said bonds, and the City Auditor has certified to this Commission such estimated life as exceeding five (5) years, and the maximum maturity of such bonds as ten (10) years, and such notes as two (2) years.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF XENIA, State of Ohio:

SECTION 1. That it is deemed necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Xenia, Ohio, in the principal sum of Sixteen Hundred Dollars, ($1600.00), in order to provide a fund for the purpose of constructing curbs and gutters on California Street from Cincinnati Avenue to Bellbrook Avenue, and in anticipation of the collection of special assessments therefor.

SECTION 2. That said bonds of the City of Xenia, Ohio, shall be issued in said principal sum of Sixteen Hundred Dollars, ($1600.00), for the purpose aforesaid. Said bonds shall be of the denomination of Two Hundred Dollars, ($200.00), each, and shall be dated as hereinafter determined, and shall bear interest at the rate of five and one-half (5½%) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of March and the first day of September of each year until the principal sum is paid, and shall mature in their consecutive serial order as follows:

1. September 1, 1932.
2. September 1, 1933.
3. September 1, 1934.
4. September 1, 1935.
5. September 1, 1936.
6. September 1, 1937.
7. September 1, 1938.
8. September 1, 1939.

which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments.

SECTION 3. That it is necessary and this Commission hereby determines that notes shall be issued in anticipation of the issuance of said bonds.

SECTION 4. That such anticipatory notes in the amount of Sixteen Hundred Dollars, ($1600.00), which sum does not exceed the amount of the bond issue, shall be issued bearing interest at the rate of six (6%) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually. Such notes shall be dated September 1, 1930, and shall mature on March 1, 1931; provided, however, that such notes shall be redeemable at any thirty (30) day period or multiple thereof, prior to their maturity. Such notes shall be issued and delivered in such number and such denominations as may be requested by the purchaser of such notes.

SECTION 5. Such notes shall be executed by the Mayor and City Auditor and bear the seal of the corporation; shall be designated, "California Street Curb and Gutter Notes," and shall be payable at The Xenia National Bank in the City of Xenia, Ohio; they shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued, and that they are issued pursuant to this ordinance.

SECTION 6. Said notes shall be first offered to the Sinking Fund Trustees of the City, and so many of the same as shall not be taken by said Trustees shall be sold at private sale by the City Auditor but for not less than par and accrued interest, and the proceeds from such sale, except any premium and accrued interest thereon, and the amount thereof necessary for the payment of interest prior to the maturity of such notes, shall be paid into the proper fund and be used for the purpose aforesaid, and for no other purpose. Any premium and accrued interest, and the amount necessary for the payment of interest prior to their maturity, shall be transferred to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund to be applied by them in the payment of principal and interest of said notes in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 7. Said notes shall be the full general obligation of the City, and the full faith, credit and revenue of said City are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of the same. The par value to be received from the sale of the bonds anticipated by said notes, and any excess fund resulting from the issuance of such notes, shall, to the extent necessary, be used only for the retirement of said notes at maturity, together with interest thereon, and is hereby pledged for such purpose.

SECTION 8. During the year or years while such notes run there shall be levied on all the taxable property in the City of Xenia, Ohio, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually, not less than that which would have been levied if bonds had been issued without the prior issue of such notes. Such tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner, and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof, the funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which, together with the interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the principal and interest of said notes or the bonds in anticipation of which they are issued, when and as the same fall due.

SECTION 9. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor. SECTION 10. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law. Passed this 2nd day of Sept., 1930.

President of City Commission.
